

Gruesome Beast 6: ASSORTED NASTIES

The COCKATRICE is a dragon with the head of a cockerel. Be careful if you meet one—it can kill you with a glance. The most environmentally-friendly way of dealing with it is to show it its own face in a mirror.

You are welcome!

Nugent-Dunbar vol 20 fol 55

Right: Nationwide Building Society vol 55 fol.15

This little horror is a WYRM or legless dragon.

Dawes vol 74 fol.84

This is a HARPY—a vulture with a woman's head. She turns very nasty when provoked...

Souter vol. 34 fol.5

Here we have a Chinese Dragon which has no wings.

Wilson vol 73 fol.99

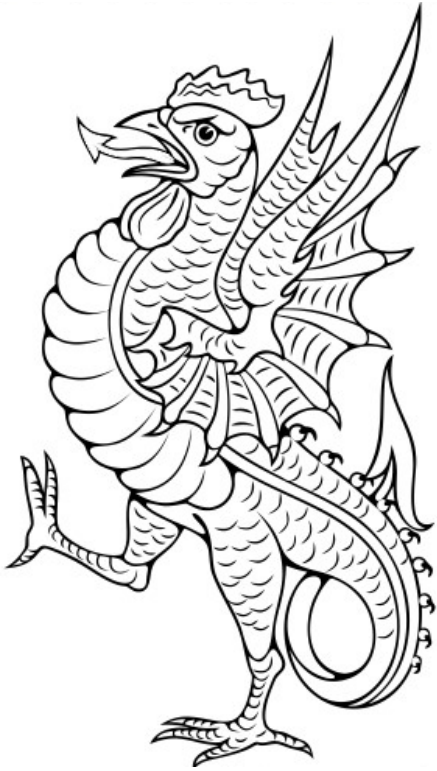

The SALAMANDER in heraldry is a green lizard surrounded by flames which do not burn it.

It was the emblem of King Francis I of France and is the badge of the Douglas Clan.

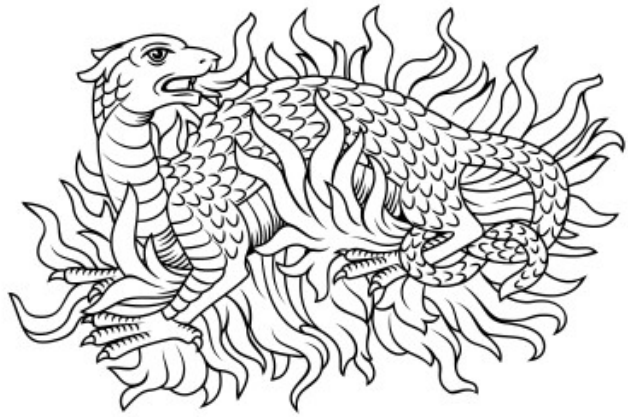

Duke of Hamilton vol 58 fol 1

Today's colouring-in is of some of these assorted nasties.

Cockatrice

Salamander

Harpy

Hydra—count the heads! Sadly, we do not have one of these yet on a Scottish coat of arms.
